

Abstract of CN 2410708

The utility relates to the luminous character(s) that could be used to light in the night, especially, be used as doorplates or signs for buildings including dormitories. It includes briquettes of characters and luminous layer on the surface of the briquettes; furthermore, a protective layer could be applied to the luminous layer. The advantage of the utility is that the doorplates or signs made from the luminous characters of the utility are highly visible in the night, not going astray, and excellently decorated.

In the drawing of the specification of the utility, the labeled numbers stand for:

- 1 - briquette of character
- 2 - rough coat
- 3 - luminous layer
- 4 - protective layer
